

Natural zones

If you look at the Earth from outer space, you can see large areas (or zones) with deserts, forests, mountains and ice cap.

In this chapter, you will describe and explain the location and the characteristics of each natural zone.

Just like in a jigsaw puzzle, all the pieces are waiting for you to fit them together.

